EVENING HERALD.

This DULUTH EVENING HERALD is issued from its office in the Bunnell block every afternoon; First edition at 4 o'clock. Last edition at 5 o'clock.

The EVENING HERALD will be delivered to any part of the city or mailed to any address for fifty cents per month.

The DULUTH Evening medium in Northern Minnesota. Special attention given to securing results to those who use its columns.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DULUTH.

The masons ask for bids for the excavative of cellar for their temple and dome. This looks like an early commencement of business.

The News has cut down its size from eight columns to seven. Still the News has double the circulation of any other Duluth paper." in its mind.

Park point now wants to join issues firmly with Duluth. This is wise. It probably also settles the question of a location for the government life-saving station.

The legislative committee of the city council is in session this afternoon. Much important legislation pertaining to Duluth is still to go before the state legislature and it should be carefully scanned by the people.

Thursday, February 19, is the day set for the investigation of the St. Paul railroads by the interstate commission, and Chicago is the place where such investigation will be held. It is to be hoped the investigation will be complete and the commission not afraid to apply the spur.

The real estate activity of the coming spring, of which there seems so little doubt, will not, should not be confined, to strictly city development. Duluth symmetrical development is the thing most to be desired, and this may best be accomplished by the careful and thorough building up of her splendid suburban places of both manufacturing and residence.

Premier Floquet's determination to bring the issue of Bonlangerism to a speedy settlement is worthy of the man who did not fear to brand Bonlanger as a mountebank, and who stuck the point of his sword in Bonlanger's neck in proof of his sincerity. It will probably be impossible to avoid the trouble which the general's character, conduct and purpose go to create; but at least, the easily position taken by Floquet will compel the mountebank and his friends to show their hand much earlier than they otherwise would.

The statement of business done by the Northern Pacific shows an increasing volume each month, the increase for the first of this month averaging nearly $20,000 per day. While the stocks of other roads, heretofore held as firetold securities, have been rapidly becoming of less value, those of the Northern Pacific are steadily increasing. Good management and honest officials have held off this great railroad project, and are already showing what can be done with it. With the rapid payment of its debt by the retirement of preferred stock in payment for land the road is constantly getting in better shape and will before long be a large dividend payer.

The Herald is much pleased to note the continued success of Ashland's charcoal blast furnaces. It is an angry success of Duluth's own work in that direction. The Ashland press of yesterday speaks as follows: "The attention of iron manufacturers has been called to the record made by the Ashland furnaces. When 642 tons for last week was announced and 100 tons a day, it was thought to be wonderful, but this week furnished a still better showing. It reached 654 gross tons of pig iron, with a record of 104 tons in one day. It was expected to make a total of 700 tons but a slight accident on Friday prevented it. The showing is by far the best ever made by any charcoal blast furnaces in the world."

Duluth's growth has but just begun. The future of this city from the standpoint of the present is, as the Herald has frequently claimed, full of promise and actual potentiality of growth than ever before. More has been done in the last twelve months to lay the foundation of a great city than in any half dozen years previous. But the growth of Duluth proper has not perhaps been greater in what constitutes true growth than that of her new suburbs, and these must in the future be more and more considered and developed, and therefore become most powerful factors in the development of the city itself. The importance of this suburban development has not yet been fully realized. It can not be, except after frequent and constant visits to West Duluth, to Onota, and to New London, when the rapid expansion of these outlying parts of the city can be watched and studied. But with what has been done much remains to be done. As yet not a tithe of what work should be carried out has been begun. Duluth is one of the most happily situated cities on the continent. But her outlying tributary districts are none the less happily located. The opportunities for developing residence regions round about this city are many. Go in almost any direction and you will find the conditions for the building of a splendid suburb. The visitor to Duluth ten years from today will see a developed suburban region surpassed by few cities on the continent. It is however a necessity that these developments and pushings of business be carried out in a broad spirit of unity. If additions are to be united under a single government let not the few, who perhaps by advantage of long residence may have the balance of power, attempt to dictate terms unpalatable to kindred additions that will in a few years far surpass them in population and business, let there be no bickerings, no jealousies, no petty quarrels, all of which so injured Duluth itself in the earlier stages of its growth. If Duluth's suburbs expect to become part of a great city there must be constant effort toward consolidation and good feeling.

In St. Paul stop at The Clifton, 5th street, near corner of Wabasha.

I am prepared to make loans on improved business and residence property in any amount at current rates. No delay.

FOUR DULUTH MEN.

THE DULUTH EVENING HERALD prints CHATS OF INTEREST ABOUT FOUR WELL KNOWN DULUTHIANS.

St. Paul Globe: Speaker Graves—I attended high mass at St. Mary's church this morning, and the reason for the great hold the priests have over their congregation is the way they talk. The Father Cullinan, read the annual financial statement, and it revealed the fact that out of the large revenue he only drew the small sum of $300, illustrating the practical application of the view of poverty held at ordination.

El Sherwood, county attorney of St. Louis county, is a dandy looking fellow, and is in the prime of his attractive features. He is now run by a woman, and is never seen without a woman. He is a pretty playmate for a man to visit alone, as he is very liable to be waylaid. Now that Al Free is no longer to be deplored, there is no need for the "Free" to be shot on the least provocation, and he held the toughs in check.

Matthew Black, Hardware, of Duluth, is a specimen of what grit and hard work will make a man. He went to Duluth two or three years ago, coming from Virginia, and he is a school teacher. Upon arriving at the Zenith City he had about $20 to his name, and today he is worth a cool thousand.

John H. Hayes, of Mr. Hayes' did not take long to get started. He projected a number of schemes for the benefit of the city, and the town went through during the town good and living his pockets with gold. When the town quieted down, he was a nobody.

DAVE WILLIAMS' TRICK.

He has two schemes for working a roulette, but is beaten at last.

Dave Williams was the smartest telegrapher of the day. Quick witted and fertile in expedients, he ran up to Virginia City in 1863, when the mining world was laying awake nights expecting to hear the decision in the famous Chollar and Wide West claims.

Whichever way the judgment went a fortune for the first man that got it off.

Williams boldly entered the office at Virginia City and easily engaged the three wires to San Francisco by filing a copy of a newspaper for transmission.

The sport was truly and the newspaper was exhausted before the decision was announced. Williams then passed a bill over the counter, telling the staff to grind out on that on three wires. Agents of brokers, who had been sent to Virginia City on the same mission, tumbled to the home here. To his view there was a time when the plant was abundant in our northern lands, and its present rare occurrence marks a dying out of the species on this side of the ocean. Its vigorous growth in Europe is due to the circumstances that it is there a young plant on a virgin soil.

It was Buffon's idea that all the forms of animal and plant life common to the two continents were introduced here after the discovery by Europeans. The idea was naturally suggested by the rapidity with which this continent was peopled and stocked with all domestic animals and cultivated plants.

The wire was tapped, and a receiver and transmitter cut into the circuit. In this way Williams learned everything that passed over the wire. Nothing remained but to wait for the day the electric telegraph news of the week's vigil had almost exhausted the patience of the desperate schemer. His acute ear detected the first announcement, and, instantly grounding the wire, he broke the circuit, and then cutting in he took up the story and sent an opposite decision through. A cipher was used to apprise his confederates in San Francisco what way to play. The ingenious swindler fortunately was frustrated by Mr. Yount, who was chief operator in this city. He detected Williams' characteristic style of telegraphing, and knowing that Williams was not supposed to be handling the wire, he stopped him.

His suspicions were further confirmed by Virginia City messages beginning to arrive from the regular operator. These facts, embracing the languages of both dispatches, were compared over the wire and the fraud exposed. This ended Williams' connection with the telegraph system of the Pacific slope.

His talents were diverted to stock jobbing, and his vulgar dispatches to be detained.

LUCKED FOR FIGHT.

McAuley and Myers Come Together

Madison City, Indiana, Morning.

After Sixty Rounds of Fighting.

Nearly Five Hours, it is a Draw.

Both Men Very Cautious and Neither
Punished to any Appreciable Extent.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—The Chicago Times

has the following account of the Myers

McAuley fight which took place this morning

from North Judson, Indiana:

At the beginning of the fight this morning there was a wrangle over McAuley's having plastered his hands under his gloves, for which a time, threatened to stop all proceedings. Colville advised McAuley to keep the gloves on. Finally he was allowed to put them on. At 6:40 a.m. two deputy marshals jumped on the platform and informed those present that the fight could not go on. After a long wrangle with the referee and the sheriff it was agreed to allow a boxing match. Mike McAuley had known Chicago was referred.

The fight began at 6:35 a.m. Ten rounds were fought up to that point with no knock down effects although Myers appeared to have slightly the best of it. At the end of the twenty-third round there was no particular chance except that Myers had a bad red eye which he received from McAuley. The eighteenth round commenced at 10:10 a.m. and the referee stopped the bout and referred them to the city court for a decision. The city will cut for its owner, in fact it is now doing so, and will get a total of 4,000,000 feet for the year.

The local lumber market promises to be slightly more quiet condition than for a number of years past, but probably as much as anything to the lumber market of late is the result of the lumber strike which both sides of the deviation building was active. A small eastern city do not mystery, the local demand is great very great. Stocks are low and therefore is good and sawmills men and lumbermen generally are expecting a profitable year.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DULUTH.

An Iowan claims to have discovered perfect motion, and yet prohibition obtains in Iowa.

Suicide has become quite popular in Austria since a member of the royal house set the fashion. A young lieutenant has killed himself in the same manner as Prince Rudolph.

The people of New Mexico don't want Geronimo. They are willing that his untrained mind should develop and that he should drink beerwater and scalp the settlers in Florida.

Mrs. Annie Jeunesse Miller is lecturing on dress reform in the Twin cities. Mrs. Miller has a characteristic that will command itself to the general public—when she means legs she says legs and not limbs. It would be a fine thing if she could come to this city and eliminate the word limb from the anatomical vocabulary of some of Duluth's feminines.

The Cleveland administration promises to go out of power the most generally disliked and the most odious of all national administrations excepting that of Buchanan. The Edgerton broil, the Samoan weakness and numberless other undignified squabbles of all characters, and by no means least the silly foolishness of which Gov. Church, Cleveland's appoinsee, has just been guilty of, all combine to tear off from this administration whatever of a cloak of assumed dignity it had thrown over its shoulders. All hail a coming president of force, character, honesty and dignity!

It will be rather hard on the Congo State, but a relief to this country, if the European nation, make it the dumping ground of their human garbage of refuse population. The United States has been the convict's paradise for old world countries long enough. The Congo Free State is a splendid country, and has everything in it to make life desirable. It can support a population equal to that of any of the great empires of Europe. Its present population is so small that it cannot be greatly injured by any probable amount of refuse dumped upon it, and it should be appropriated to that purpose.

The National Tribune, of Washington, the organ of the Grand Army, is loud in its call for Alger for the cabinet. While no appointment President Harrison could make, except that of Mr. Windom, would please the northwest more than that of R. A. Alger, the HERALD doubts if it will be made. Unless the National Tribune speaks by the book as the organ of Michigan's governor, it is highly improbable that's would take any cabinet office. That would be a bad political timber in the cabinet for old world countries long enough. The Congo Free State is a splendid country, and has everything in it to make life desirable. It can support a population equal to that of any of the great empires of Europe. Its present population is so small that it cannot be greatly injured by any probable amount of refuse dumped upon it, and it should be appropriated to that purpose.

Toronto has a new method of dealing with her debt and now claims to have an improvement on the Ontario system, a modification of which is in vogue at Duluth as well as in many American cities.

The Toronto idea is to consolidate all city debentures and reduce them with irreducible bonds. If such a scheme is put into practice it in one way may be said to lift the load of debt, as the principal is never payable, and the interest is not denominated a debt. Though in the growing cheapness of money throughout the country such bonds could quite probably be easily sold at low rates, it may well be considered doubtful if any city in the United States, or especially in the west, could successfully put it in practice. It might do for Toronto, at any rate the experiment will be eagerly watched by the west. A modification of the plan might be a good thing to try in Duluth.

Considerable attention is being attracted to heavy exports of grain from Baltimore, and merchants and railway men are wondering at the figures. They show a particularly heavy gain over a year ago in corn. New York has suffered severely in consequence. Philadelphia has been gaining at the expense of New York and between the competition of the two the grain market of Manhattan has seen grounds of complaint. It is supposed at New York that lighters or elevator companies at Baltimore and Philadelphia, closely connected with the roads that are enjoying such excessive shares of the grain movement, are responsible. Devices are possible by which they can enjoy all of the benefits that secret culling will bring. New York roads claim they will not submit to improper manipulation of transportation charges.

The fact that the best grades of wheat are grown in the higher and colder latitudes goes far towards establishing the theory that the prevalence of cold in winter is a necessary condition precedent to a good crop. It will be remembered that the winter of 1877-8 in the Northwest was the mildest one ever experienced, and that it was followed by the most complete failure of the wheat crop in the history of Minnesota. That winter differed from the present one in that it was accompanied by much rain but it was held that the absence of frost and heavy snows was largely responsible for the crop failure that followed. It is an old saying that "now is the poor man's fertilizer," and the saying has a basis of scientific truth. What effect the action of frost on the ground has upon its wheat producing powers is not so well known. But as there is now a fair amount of snow throughout the west the fears of the farmers in Duluth belt have been partially quieted. The dryness of the soil of the Red River Valley last fall may be a factor of danger, and all things considered a big crop is by no means as much of a certainty for 1890 as would be hoped.

Announcement is made of the sale of the Chapin mine, the greatest on the Menominee range, to Jewish capitalists from New York and Milwaukee, headed by Ferdinand Schlesinger, of the latter city. The price paid for this property, including its vast interest in the interest in the Hydromine Power company's plant on the Menominee river, is $2,000,000. The Chapin has made a fine record in the eight years it has been wrought. It began shipping in 1880, and up to the close of last yr. its shipments were 2,181,000 net tons. Its largest output in a single year was in 1887, when it produced 336,123 tons. Its production in 1888 was 273,288 tons, and would have been very much greater, but for the sluggishness of the market at the opening of the season. When the change for the better in the ore market came the mining force was increased, and the limit previously decided on for the year's work was considerably exceeded. The price paid by the purchasers may be considered cheap. It is probable that the new ownership will push this great mine to a higher output than ever before. It is also announced from Marquette that the mine of the Pittsburgh & Lake Superior Co. has been sold to George Alger for $800,000. This mine has been in operation for 17 years and has sent forward a total of over 500,000 net tons of ore. These sales will have an effect in stimulating inquiry for mining property on all the Lake Superior ranges including Duluth's own, the Vermilion.

The Zenith City Holds Her Own. I will meet any competition in my own matter where from, New York, Chicago, Minneapolis or St. Paul.

CHARTER CHANGES.

A CITY CHARTER TO BE AMENDED IN VARIOUS WAYS—DISCUSSED BY AUTHORITY.

Late yesterday afternoon representatives of the various municipal interests sat in conference over certain proposed changes in the city charter that have been under discussion for some time. Important alterations will be made should all the alterations suggested be incorporated in the bill to be drafted. Among other matters, it is intended to increase the size of the board of aldermen from the present seven to nine, and to increase the number of commissioners in whose hands flowing into and through the city limits; providing that adjoining property shall be assessed for retaining walls, etc., that all property shall be taxed in the course of streams, shall pay its share for the resulting benefit, that sidewalk assessments may be levied on a new way, and that the city receive partial payments on assessments for improvements, giving partial receipts therefore that improvements may be ordered to be made at the owner's expense. The bill will be introduced in the council next week.

THE QUEEN ON THE IRISH.

The Text of Victoria's Coming Parliamentary Speech Considered by the Cabinet.

To be Largely Devoted to the Irish Question and a Defense of Government.

DISPROVED.

I caught this the dead come over back.
Else thou, my mother, would not calmly lie
Within thy grassy tent, but awfully lie
Back through the shadows and lonely track
To meet me who am thy boy, thy son,
The blithe boy, then would thy soul shrink,
And, though so weary, all its peace put by,
Another's long-limbed my heart should seek
To comfort me, for where can his kiss
Anoint so my sad eyes? Come back and prove
How deeply than the grave is thy dear love!
I have no more to say, than to say away miss
That let me come. Alas, no couriers come
From heaven to earth! Time absence proves
This—May Riley Smith.

AGATHES PERFYDY.

"Are you sure that you will always love me, Agathe?"

"Always, Bertrand."

"You will never regret your choice, my darling! Not even if some man richly endowed with worldly goods come to seek your favor, are you quite certain?"

"Listen, Bertrand, such a love as mine is born not to live but for a day like a gaudy butterfly. I have the eyes from sun to sun that never see a ray, nor ever see a ray again; nor under rock, pari as the blue other above; a love that will only end with death and perhaps not then. I know that you are poor, but what is that to me? The united love of two beings who are all in all to each other is wealth enough. It will be true to you though all the world prove false!"

"And I to you, I swear it," solemnly responded Bertrand Argyle as he raised his own right, as though he would pluck one of the glowing points of light that flashed from the blue other, above, situated by Agathe De Reille.

Off to the west, where the sun but just now was but no more, its after glow suffuses the cloud wreaths with varied tints of purple and gold and ruby red that are reflected upon the rippling waters of the lake below.

"This is not intended as a reflection on the West, only on the lake! A little to the south of west, a pale, wavy moon is humping itself. Gibbons is a good word to use, for few people know what it means. You are, weakly winding his homeward wind along the dusky way, a gibbons man. He too, is now full. Softly the zephyrs sigh through the tree tops and the boughs drowsily to one another, and from afar comes the hoarse, hoisted voice of the honest granger who jaws his blithe yesterdays. From neighboring hills, arises a faint, misty, vaporous fog, thickly studded with the round domes of a male cow frog, delivered in a low, thrilling, reverberating tone.

"I could stand here forever listening to the sounds of nature with my at my side," remarks Bertrand at the conclusion of the pause above referred to.

"With you, not to fear catching cold if you sit here, we may bask at length, shivering, though fearful that her words may give offense."

"True, my love. I had not thought of that."

Bertrand abstractedly inserts one hand in one of his trousers pockets and encounters a dime. He sighs, like a man who has been holding his breath while three more are on the track, and the striker has two strikes called on him.

"Agathe," he begins in the low, determined voice of one who feels his senders giving way and endeavors to hold on to his pantaloons by sheer force of will, "to-morrow I go forth to carouse a fortune for myself and for you. You will wait for me until I return with it, will you not, dear?"

"I cannot say, it may be years, but you think to yourself, up to now, I am not safe. And before I go take this; it is a deed of a tract of land in Florida made out in your name. It may not be of greater value than some other tracts that have been handed me from time to time by my father, but when again it may, it cost me $50 to keep it with me."

"Oh, Bertrand, you are good."

"Don't say anything about it, but see, the glooming now has given way to gloom of night. 'Tis long past supper time; I am hungry, and so, no doubt, are you. Allow me now to guide your footsteps to your home, even as I hope soon to have the privilege of guiding them through life."

"Thus they faded away in the gathering gloom."

A year or twelve months has passed away—a year freighted with blessings and vicissitudes and political conventions and—well, with everything that constitutes the cargo ship of life. CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—The announcement upon authority that three weeks hence Miss Kate Claxton will disband her company and permanently retire from the road, has created considerable of a sensation in theatrical circles. It can be stated however, upon personal authority, that it is a sober and well-judged act on the part of the famous actress and the fact that, having accumulated a very handsome fortune, she feels that she can well afford to take a quiet retirement. The company will be disbanded on the 1st of March, Mr. Charles A. Stevenson, becomes the principal stockholder and general manager of a New York commercial establishment.

A Terrible Misfortune.

It is a calamity of the deadliest kind to be that one's physical energies are failing in the prime of his life—feel more nervous, more dispirited, weaker every day. Yet this is the case of hundreds who are among us. A sense of weariness, which which sciences approves, in behalf of which multitudes of the distilitated have and act every day testifies, and which in consequence has led to many contributions unfeigned by weakness and infirmities alone, unbefitted by other means, surely confirming that we need a tonic. How often does the Bitter taste of the bark—pore, balsamic, soothing to the nerves, promotive of digestion and a fertilizer of the blood. THE DAY IN THE CITY.

Car receipts of wheat this morning were 3 cars of wheat.
The lobby of the Hotel St. Louis is being handsomely re-decorated.

Spring styles of the well renowned Knobels at the Big Duluth.

Fourteen realty transfers were filed yesterday, with a total consideration of $12,500.

The Big Duluth in the future holds the exclusive agency for the world renowned Knobels.

The Duluth Mining & Development company has held its election, and old officers will serve another year.

Minimum temperature this morning was 5° above, early in the morning it moderated, and considerably snow has fallen.

Today is St. Valentine's day and the post office is already burdened with an abundance of missives and souvenirs. It is apparent that demand in the West is greater than in previous years.

There is now in Duluth a total of 50,000 barrels of flour, an increase during the week of 17,000, of which 12,000 were sent to the Eastern, and the rest on the St. Paul & Pacific.

Quite a good deal of corn from Nebraska is being received at Duluth elevators now. Yesterday 25,000 bushels were delivered and today 10,000 more.

The entire west part of the city was shut off from water connection this morning to make connections with main leading to Rice's point. New mains to be used will give much better service to West End than that received by the larger during that recession than for some years past.

Carter and Ivens, the billiardists, will not arrive here this afternoon, as they missed their train, so far as Duluth, as they missed the train last night at St. Paul, but they will probably arrive here as 5:35 over the Western in time for this evening's engagement.

A deserving object of charity is a widow in this city with four children, all of whom are suffering from attacks of the measles fever. They are in very deep distress, the state and are being treated by the county physician. Their home is in West Park addition.

There are but two days grace for board of trade members who do not want their membership fees increased to $35. The action of the board in selling the present membership share is to be taken to the public on the matter, and a proposal to make all its members stand on equality.

The four weeks old child of Geo. Daniels and wife, who arrived here this morning over the St. Paul & Pacific, from Spokane, Wash., to Town died this morning at the Union depot. The infant had been sick for a week, and was getting improving when the sun came up yesterday weather last night brought on the fatal disease. The burial will take place at Tower.

Herbert Swindorf, agent of the Northern Pacific & Manitoba at Winnipeg and Captain Young, in charge of Canadian interests in the North, were in Duluth yesterday afternoon, as heretofore expected, to make arrangements for an audience at the Canadian Parliament, to be held this month. An agent of the Canadian custom department will, as a result of their visit, be located at Duluth in future to look after that bonded business.

Torke is asking some legislation at this session of the state solons, and Register of Deeds is now at St. Paul looking after the interests of the proposed new city charter for the village, and will seek its incorporation, also the establishment of a municipal court there. It appears probable that the court will be located in St. Louis County, asked for by Tower, will be allowed to go over unnoticed at the session, not to appear again for a few weeks.

The Hamer building built by J. C. Hunter in 1872 and the first block in Duluth in which the native brown sandstone of this region was extensively used, has just been sold by its original owners from Messrs. Faris and Vandenberg, who came into possession of the fine structure some years ago. W. H. Hunter built the stone and timber story block, receiving a good deal of confidence in his part in Duluth as well as in the stone used in construction to put so much money into a structure which was to be a link from the then center of trade. The building was for several years a standing advertisement both for the city and country.

The Moline car company is busy now making final arrangements for placing machinery, and expects a lot of it along very soon to fill its manufacturing buildings. Already several men employed in these departments in the machine shops have arrived with their families, most of them from the south, and are ready to jump into work as soon as the plant is ready. They will remain in town until the plant is up and locating the dozen great machines bought by the company until the time when active work is to be done.

Probably in May. Until that time but a small portion of the army of workers to be employed will be brought to Duluth.

The North Star Construction company of St. Paul filed articles of incorporation yesterday. Capital stock is placed at $1,000,000, and the stockholders are A. B. Munger, W. H. Fisher and W. P. Warner, and Donald Grand of Faribault. Directors are a number of local interests in Duluth, including A. W. Wright, T. B. Casey, R. S. Munger, W. H. Fisher, H. J. Boardman, John P. Knobels, Andrew Jackson, R. Baker and W. W. West. The company is to "deal in real estates, to project and carry on internal improvements," etc., and is of great importance to Duluth.

A Superior paper sensibly says: As the Duluth people, if nothing else, are practically about as poor as hell, it would be to their advantage to benefit to Superior as to Duluth, the people on this side of the bay naturally feel a friendly interest in the project, and I hope the time will come when they will be able to secure the construction of the grant of lands made to aid in building it will succeed. The early construction of the new bridge, tributary to the head of the lake, and give more direct communication with the ports of Minnesota, will bring products with them to the markets of the east over lines of transportation centering here.

There was a large crowd at the Reel last night, the occasion being one of the regular Bob Marley entertainments. Mr. Marley was out of entertainment and kept the audience in any stage of feeling he desired by his readings. The program included The Dancin' Master, The Poet, Carter, and the Silver King. The Black of Ireland and Dot Baby of Main, all by him; while Mrs. Wardwell sang The Confession, and read a poem. The White Bishop sang Drifting All and later When the Glad Day Comes. Miss Sween did not appear. The next entertainment will be a concert by Mr. Mounts and his music scholars, given February 26.

BERLIN STUDENT LIFE.

Now the young folks spend most of their leisure hours.

"Student life in Berlin," said a young St. Louisian in a conversation with a Republic representative, "appears to be especially American, and not one of us learned much who was not proud of his large collection of pictures and souvenirs which the founders recollects of it. The way in which young Germans and Americans fraternize is wonderful, and, although the sets divide up into cliques of about a dozen congenial spirits, you often see them coming together in a general representation of the various nationalities. Students generally live in about the same quarter of Berlin and have a social life of their own.

The course of study here is very hard, yet they find pleasure in sports, and their meetings in the beer halls are frequent and always uproarious.

It is marvelous what an education one gets in the art of drinking beer, and the way it is drunk away with all the heads, in which it becomes a recreation of musical students to indulge. I remember one 'battle,' as it was called, when two opposing forces of six students each drank against one another, and students who were not in the battle, but who had not been invited by the police. They did not arrest us, but knowing we were students, took our cards and requested us to report before the police authorities next morning, which we did with great difficulty to meet the strict demands. That struck me as really quite polite conduct for police men; leaving us on our honor, as it were, and showed a confidence in students which I have never seen before.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DULUTH.

The failure of the Panama canal is doing what advantage could not do. It is breaking down that marvel of energy and enterprise, Count de Lesseps. He is said to be failing rapidly.

It cost $3,000 to test a $5,000 gun, but our coast defenses and naval armament must be strengthened in spite of it. Any way, it isn't so bad as putting a $5 dollar on a 50-cent dog, or giving the piano in payment of his bill, to the man who turned it.

The more testimony La Caron gives the plainer it appears that he is swearing at so much a swear, and that his testimony ought not, and probably will not, have any weight with the court. He is proved to be a spy and a secret detective of the worst and most unscrupulous kind. It is in keeping with the dignity of the British government to keep in its employ such a man, and when he is foisted on the witness stand, the world takes cognizance of the circumstances surrounding him.

The assertion of a statistician that twenty princes and princesses of the reigning royal families in Europe have been treated for mental disorders, leads the New York World to the conclusion that the Nineteenth century has been very severe upon the royal think tank. How many of the blood royal of Europe have been treated for unmentionable diseases will probably never be known, but enough is known to stamp royalty with a terrible stigma.

The electrical fellows are trying to form a trust. The Westinghouse company has gobbled the United States Electric Light company and a number of other plants, and is endeavoring to get a corner on everything electric. The crisis will heat in sight when these enterprising bandits control the air and begin to sell permits to breathe. The pretenses of the little electric machine now on exhibition at the Clyde Iron Works of this city say it will be a damper on any proposed trust in the electric line.

Carlton college students have a new exercise good for developing the mind and one that if carried to a great extent will give all training necessary for a real estate dealer. The Northfield Independent says: The latest thing in college rhetoricals is the boozing of western cities. Tuesday morning, at Carlton, Mr. Clow presented a glowing account of the advantages of Duluth, which were ably answered by the following morning by a paper given by Miss Lincoln, in which she set forth the merits of Minneapolis.

"Twenty-four thousand of population for a senatorial district and 11,000 for a representative district will be the basis on which the next apportionment will be made," said one of the members of the state legislature from the northern part of the state at St. Paul yesterday. An apportionment made on the basis referred to will give St. Louis county two senators and three, perhaps four, members of the lower house. Instead of a senatorial district including eight or nine great counties and being 150 by 300 miles in length and breadth, it will be reduced to proportions more consonant with our growth and importance, and will give us a weight in the affairs of the state.

Duluth will see during the year of grace 1889 a greater development in material prosperity than ever before. This is a fact self evident to any man who studies the growth of cities. Local causes are tending also toward wonderful advancement and development. During the year more than half a dozen great manufacturing enterprises will set the wheels of trade to running rapidly. The Duluth Iron & Steel company will turn out its first pig iron, the Minnesota Car company will be manufacturing cars in three or four months, the Imperial Mill company will be grinding the best flour in the world, the Iron Bay Manufacturing company will be, before the year is over, making machinery for all the mills of the west. Col. Glenn will be building boilers for the northwest, the Adams company will be turning out fine office furniture and many small manufacturers, whose aggregate capital will run into the hundreds of thousands, will be employing skilled labor and turning out their finished product. If such a list does not give courage to the weakest heart there is nothing which increases its faith in "Duluth the Solid."

The German fleets in American and Pacific waters do not amount to much. The following is an official list of vessels and their armaments as compiled in Paris: On the Atlantic coast of the United States they have but one vessel—the Nice, commanded by Corvette-Captain Bischel. She is a schoolship of the naval apprentices, and carries ten guns of light calibre and a crew of 300. The Germans have at present no ships on the Pacific coast. In Japanese waters they have two gun-boats—the Iltis and the Wolf. The Iltis carries a crew of eighty-seven men and can steam ten knots an hour. Her armament consists of two four-inch rifled, steel breech-loading guns and two light guns. The Wolf is a companion ship of the Iltis, but not so fast as one knot an hour. Her crew and armament are precisely the same as that of the Iltis. On the Australian station are the three vessels Adler, Olga and Eber; the two first at Apia, and the last at Auckland. The Adler is a cruiser, and her Commander Corvette-Captain Fritze, the senior officer on the station. He has been decorated several times and has seen about thirteen years of actual sea service. He has held his present rank since the beginning of 1885. The Adler's engines are of 650 h. p., and she can steam 11 knots. Her crew consists of 197 men exclusive of officers. Her armament consists of two six inch and two five inch breech-loading guns. The Olga is commanded by Corvette-Captain Baron von Ehrhardt. She is a cruiser corvette (steam) of 2,400 h. p. armament consists of eight six inch and two three inch guns. She can steam fourteen knots an hour. The Eber is a steam gunboat of the same class as the Iltis and the Wolf, and carries the same number of men and the same armaments. All giving a total of six small vessels, with crews approximating 950 men and an armament of 36 guns.

PREPARING FOR THE END.

The Two Murderers, Lee and Moe, Calmly Await Their Fate at Alexandria.

To be Strung by the Same Rope That Choked Wisanen in Duluth.

ALEXANDRIA, Feb. 14.—The 200 inhabitants of this little city are in a fever of excitement over the impending execution of John Lee and Martin Moe, on Friday. The death warrant was read to the men yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Drate, in the presence of Rev. E. Chester. The condemned men are less excited over their impending doom than any of the numerous visitors constantly with them. Over 200 persons applied for admittance to the jail yesterday, but only two hundred found a place.

FERGUS FALLS, Feb. 14.—Sheriff Brandenburg has sent his hangman rope to Alexandria, to be used on Friday. It is the rope which Holton was hanged last May. It also did effective service at the hanging of Wisanen in Duluth last summer, when he was strangled by a homesteader on the line of the Duluth & Iron Range road.

Lee was riding over town on a Blue Island avenue car the other morning, and said a young lawyer yesterday, "and, as I said a cigar, I was on the front platform. The driver of the car was a big, heavy, good natured Irishman whom I remembered having seen on the line a long time. I was in a conversational mood, so I said to him: 'My friend, you've been driving here for a long time, haven't you?' He turned upon me with a twinkle in his eye and replied: 'Yes, sir, nigh to two years.' I asked him: 'What's the reason?' He replied: 'I lost the two twos I was taken sick—they got a doctor for the horse and they docked me. Oldfashare!'—Chicago Herald.

ANDREW JACKSON, Jeweler,

GREAT BILLIARDS.

A SMALL CROWD OF LOVERS OF THE GAME WITNESS THE GREATER BILLIARDS EVER SEEN IN THIS CITY AT ST. LOUIS.

The advent in Duluth of Eugenie Carter and Frank Ives, and their exhibition of billiards last evening, had undoubtedly created a general interest of that most fascinating game, and an amateur tournament, organized by Duluth experts will probably be the outcome.

An effort was made at the finish of last evening's game to induce Mr. Culleyford to allow the table to remain in its present place in the dining room of the St. Louis Hotel, but he would not do so, and would not do so. There is enough expert billiard in this city to make it adopted that the tables have a corner.

Mr. Culleyford, as an exhibition player, has no objection to the game, and some of the shots he made last evening seemed to literally defy all known laws of physics. His exhibition masses shots was also a exhibition of skill. The first game was a balk line game of 300 points. Neither man did him justice at the "ago in", but when Ives, as the game had a decided turn, had a chance to make an innovation upon the mis-ques and runs of half dozen or so which had characterized their performances thus far, ran up 65 points in a row, and the "ago in" of the night woke the stillness. Until the close of the game this run, in the opinion of the Carter, with his skill in the game standing at 238, was 151. When the game came out, his run 67 being only 20 less than his highest run in the December Chicago tournament, was the winner.

Frank Ives took a champion's place, but with age and experience, Carter will have the field. Slightly Inconclusive. The treasurer of the People's Passenger railway, in speaking the other day of old characters to be found on the cars, said: "I know a woman so devout and religiously strict that she never has, and says she never will, ride in our cars on Sunday. This same woman takes the transfer tickets she gets from the conductor and gives them to others so that they may ride free. We have traced her closely. She is well off, and is one of the most active church workers of the city. So far as I know there is no other religious inconsistency in her life."

THE TASK.

It slack thy hand, if faint thy heart, To ease thy burdened human part, That with thy spirit thou art weak, And speechless, like a man that speaks not.

And thou, perchance, shalt consummate A fortune, that hath tarried late.

Then, if thy way is thy thought adjust.

Let it to thee a heavier prove,

Not that the way will glory more,

But that the way will be hard.

It shall not fail, when art caught,

To find thy spirit fit and calm,

And to thy soul to endow.

It is high command, to speak so speak,

As light that springs from peak to peak;

As though the low lands be dark and dull

Near heights, for heights and heights beyond.

Unto its unknowns keenest ways,

That the way knoweth not.

But through the ages on waves goes,

"She gave me your name, and you remember the fairy tale I told you—engaged before she got her program to forget to put it down, etc., etc."

"You played that, Tom."

"O, yes, I remember that. You'll be doing it again soon. Can't play it on an old timer, though, Jack; remember that."

"Then, according to your story, I'm no one, and you're the favorite."

"No, it's my name. The only difference is that I know the tricks and play them when you come my way and you don't. I've had the same things happen to me times without number. But, my boy, when a young lady plays me off, I always feel bad, and I always took precious good care I should not claim I don't feel elated; I tell her I am sorry, and my sorrow is just as genuine as her happiness. We are both telling full stories, but you just think you've been a victim for not taking her away from that horrid Brown. Moreover, I'm frequently caught on the torn dress or the broken heel tricks."

"What are they?"

"The most common of all. If a young lady dancing with some one she does not care to dance with suddenly discovers that piece of face or something of that sort is torn. Then—"

"Will you please escort me to the dressing room? Some one has torn my dress."

"Certainly you will. It won't take her a moment, and you won't mind until the last minute when she's drying away, when you appear. She is so surprised, she's too busy, and she couldn't get fixed at once. Of course, sometimes the dress is really torn, and the beauty of the scheme is that the person who lived could tell whether it was or not."

"Is broken heart?"

"Or that isn't often practiced, because it puts an end to all dancing for that evening. Still, there are cases where she has to have a dance at some time and finds the young lady crouched in a corner of the room, looking at her with some kind of admiration. She is sorry—they always are—she loves the tuxedo was busy, and she couldn't get fixed at once. Of course, sometimes the dress is really torn, and the beauty of the scheme is that the person who lived could tell whether it was or not."

A Terrible Misfortune.

It is a calamity of the direst kind to see that one's physical energies are failing in the prime of life—to feel more nervous, more dispirited, weaker every day. Yet it is the unhappy lot of many who surround us. A course of renewed strength, which science approves, in behalf of which multitudes of the delilitated have and are saving themselves. This course, in less instances, has built up constitutions sapped by weakness and infirmity and undermined by other maladies, surely commands the attention of all. Dr. Trotter's Stomach Bitters is such a medicine—pare, batonic, soothing to the nerves—providing of nutrition and tonics of the blood. Dyspepsia and nervousness, the first a cause, the second a consequence of lack of stamina—deprive when a course of treatment is tried of the power of physical disease, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, constipation and biliousness and annihilated by this standard family medicine.

WORDS OF ADVICE TO A YOUNG MAN ON ENTERING SOCIETY.

Tricks That the Fair Ones Play—The Dance Programme Deception—Old Stage Up to Snuff Themselves, According to One of Them.

It was at the club. Tom, an old timer, was talking to a youth in this strain. "You have the conceit of a first season. Now, now," scoldingly, "not 'got hot, my boy. I was just the same after my first season. Every one of us has a first season. I was 14, I ask if it's out of a man. He must learn the little common tricks before he fully realizes how often a smile or a look seems to flatter controls the boy. My boy, if you know him well, you have been duped!"

"I know him well."

"With pleasure. It won't flatter your vanity, but it may be of value to you this winter. Do you remember at Mrs. Blank's ball last winter, Miss Brown told you she was sorry that the programme was full? You thought she was sorry."

"I know so."

"Well, she certainly looked it, but she could have given you any one of five or six others."

"Ah, there I have you. Tom, there you are speaking without authority. I saw her programme, old man, and it was not a dance."

"And yet, when I went to her afterward, she rubbed off one name and gave me the dance."

"Not at all. She rubbed out the initials. U. J. What did they stand for?"

"Jenine Jones. My boy, that programme was filled up in the ladies' dressing room. It is an old trick and a good one. Watch out for it. You give a girl a programme, and she is filled with a young lady's desire, and she appointment when she asks you why you didn't come earlier, and tells you that, by your neglect, you have allowed two or three steps to be taken before she can get dancing with him."

"Then some one else was cheated out of a dance?"

"Not at all. She rubbed out the initials. U. J. What did they stand for?"

John Lee a Norwegian Laborer goes to the Gallows at Alexandria Today.

The Crime He Expiates was the Deliberate Shooting of Chas. Cheriene.

A History of the Murder Which Furnished Work for Justice's Stranglers.

ALEXANDRIA, Minn., Feb. 15.—[Special]

A number of sheriffs of the state to gather with the officials of this country, newspaper men and a few spectators gathered in the newly made pine enclosure close by Douglas county jail, in which stood the double gallows, shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. Outside the jail yard was a great throng of curious spectators, who however were but ill pleased onlookers, as the execution was not to take place until 1 p.m. It was about this time when Lee was brought out to his death. Lee had last night received notice of the condemned sentence to life imprisonment, so one of the two gallows was to bear no shadowy fruit.

It was almost on the dot of 10 o'clock when Sheriff DePrado read the final words to the condemned man, who unbuttoned his arms and lead him walking slowly and steadily toward the gallows. Lee was a man of robust physique when Lee was brought out to his death. He mounted the steps of the gallows, stood quietly while the black straps were fastened about his legs and the black 'n't.

CAP WAS PULLED DOWN

over his eyes, and the last prayer made.

At exactly 10:03 the drop was pulled and the drop to Lee's head straightened out the man, one of whom was Lee, in Duluth three years ago, and with one or two convulsive movements of the legs the head was on one side and the man was dead, his neck broken.

The crime for which John Lee, a laborer, has been hung was the murder of Charles Cherine at Brandon, Minn., on June 1, 1888. They were tried and convicted of the murder and sentenced to death on October 11th, last, four months after the crime. Both the condemned men were 22 years of age. The story of the crime and the manner of its commission supplied the coloring of the local press, Lee was employed by John Wagner, a farmer at Brandon, near Brandon. On Saturday, Jan. 16, the two young men went to Brandon. Like men of their class, they went to a saloon. There they drank beer, whisky and alcohol, mixing their drink and kept up their spirits during Sunday. Monday and Tuesday Lee and his companion may have imbibed. They grew crazily quarreled and one of them went into a drug store to buy a shotgun. Lee, with his gun, bought a cheap revolver of heavy calibre and cartridges therewith perforated the drug store, and was arrested. With the revolver in their pockets the two men resumed their drunken spree and visited several saloons. At one of them they met Lee and Lee came up. Lee was drunk, who was also drunk. Lee made threats to kill some one, and Lee took Lee's revolver away. Afterwards Lee requested the salvoes, Lee was refused. Lee and Moen went out. This was about 10 o'clock p.m. About an hour later Lee and Moen had returned from a trip in the country. The ball passed through Lee's heart and he had been looking for work as a farm hand and Lee and Lee came up. Lee was drunk, Lee was arrested, half an hour later Lee was released. One man, except Lee, who was not drunk, was arrested. Lee was arrested, half an hour later Lee was arrested the next morning, when he was found asleep near his father's house, his gun in his pocket. Lee was found with his chamber loaded. At the trial Lee and Lee's wife stated that they heard Lee was to kill Lee's father. Lee's wife was arrested, half an hour later Lee was released. OFFICIAL PAPER OF DULUTH.

THE TORRENS SYSTEM.

The Herald has taken considerable trouble to obtain a description of the Torrens system and the opinion of those now doing business under it. The system is soon to be made legal and obligatory in Manitoba, and there has been some little agitation regarding it in this state. A description regarding it is received as follows.

The theory of what is called the Torrens land transfer system is simple and plausible. The state assumes the function of a title guarantee company. A court is erected whose business is to pass upon the sufficiency of all real titles submitted to its inspection, to summon conflicting claimants to present their alleged rights, and to make, as far as possible in each case, a valid title. When this is done, a certificate of title is issued by the court to the person in whom the fee is found to rest; and this certificate is evidence absolute and indefeasible of his ownership. He can then sell, mortgage or assign his real estate by means of this certificate, with as much readiness as if his property consisted of shares in a stock enterprise. The state charges fees for the issuance of papers and upon transfers, from which, as a fund, losses and damage may be paid. The system is a reform first introduced in the colonies of England, to meet the tremendous difficulties of the English transfer system. There it had an office and was welcome. According to the customs that countries have established it takes a long time and large sums of money to complete the simplest land transfer in Great Britain. The colonies, where real estate changed hands, frequently, found this intolerable. They invented the Torrens system, and it helped them.

It is evident that a state must examine carefully such a project as this before it adopts it. All the experience of mankind has shown that the title of property cannot be guarded with too jealous care. And still more positive is the warning against the assumption or exercise by the state of insurance functions. When a state consents to give an indefeasible title to property, it is a very serious matter. It must then defend all suits, and that the Torrens system will stop these is more than doubtful. There is temptation to fraud in this system. A man who can now secure quiet claim deeds by promises or misrepresentations must take his chances in equity in some future proceeding. If upon these evidences he could obtain a binding title from the state, he might laugh at the efforts of justice in the future. Again, the state authority is put in danger of abuse by the wrongdoing of its title attorneys.

These chances of abuse would be less impressive if there any real need of the Torrens system in American land transfers; if it came as a happy relief from burdens growing intolerable. But it does not. We have no need of it, and it would leave us no better furnished as to rapidity and certainty of transactions in reality than now. We have not the evils it was designed to remedy. We have a system of land transfers simple and easy. It has been supplemented by the formation of title insurance companies. These perform every function of the Torrens system, and without engrossing the state in new business. Through the title insurance company, the purchaser or the mortgagor who is not satisfied with a legal opinion on title can make him self absolutely secure. There is, consequently, no need whatever of transferring to the state a business that is already done acceptably and under strong guarantees by private enterprise. For these reasons, a proposition to introduce here the generally unfamiliar Torrens system is not likely to meet with public favor.

A certain S. L. Merchant writes to the New York Post a letter on buildings at Duluth in 1880, and figures out that on them will be spent on two of Duluth's streets in the main part of the city alone, leaving out all residence and manufacturing portions, the sum of $2,200,000 on structures alone. If Mr. Merchant's "careful collection of facts" is as accurate as to all buildings as to those regarding which the editor of the HERALD knows positively his facts will need a decided revision. To boom is all right, if within the lines of probability, but to boom by misleading and exaggerated statements which no sane man can accept as true is most injurious to any city.

The flour imported into Great Britain last year, 75 per cent, came from this country. This percentage has been exceeded but twice—in 1880, when it reached 77, and in 1887, when it reached 82. The average since 1874 has been 55.25 per cent. In view of our decreased wheat exports this increase in flour is a pleasant result. It is certainly better to grind our wheat here and send over the finished product than to give the Englishman the raw material to manufacture and make profit on himself.

Senator Hale says he thinks that in ten years the United States will have the best navy in the world—"not the strongest navy," he hastened to add, "but a navy with the most ships, not a navy with the greatest variety of ships, but a navy with ships best adapted to the work they will have to do." That is the standard by which our navy is to be measured we have the "best navy in the world" now. Our war ships all float and afford a fine promenade ground for our naval officers.

In view of the fact that all leading sporting men now believe the Myers-McAllister fight to have been a decided fake, the attention of the readers of the HERALD is invited to a special dispatch of the 22nd ult. in which the current rumors concerning the probabilities of a "take" and a "draw" were clearly outlined. The result indicates that these advices were well founded.

Ex-President Hayes may reflect upon the honorable and pleasing fact that he is one Republican who is not place-man enough to be "mentioned" without cause for a place in the Harrison cabinet.

If Kate Glazier really does retire permanently from the stage, our dispatches indicated a few days ago, perhaps the insurance companies will be willing to reduce the rates on theaters.

It begins to look as though the only way for England to get out of her difficulty is to grant Mr. Russell the right of succession in Albert Edward's place.

MARKET GARDENING.

A BOOM FOR THE BUSINESS OF MARKET GARDENING ABOUT DULUTH—ITS ADVANTAGES.

There seems to be a wide spread impression that this neighborhood offers no advantages to the agricultural class. This should not be. Though laying no claim to producing the products peculiar to a tropical climate the soil of St. Louis county is productive and yields unusually good crops of all kinds of crops.

The little man first saw the light of day in Hong Kong, where she was born from American parents, who were full blooded Plymouth stock, and, strange to say, full grown and as large as an ordinary horse. Soon after her arrival the little offspring took a sudden dislike to growing, and for the past six years has remained in her baby hood form with the exception of a few teeth. Her mane also declined to grow, and it is now no longer than when she was born. At the age of 2 years the little mare was brought to America and presented to a New York policeman. She had experienced a very rough passage, and it was thought that she would not live long. The policeman had several children, however, and it was through their kind and tender nursing that Baby Bunting still wears shoes today. The blue coated official was compelled to pay a fair price for the famous freak bunters, but his children were always given the right of decision in this question, and of course Baby Bunting, as they christened her, did not go.

AT THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

He conceived the idea of having the miniature mare trained for the ring. The plan was talked over, and the children thought it would be jolly fun. Baby Bunting was then turned over to Dr. C. W. Hause, a horse trainer of Jersey City, who a short time previous had visited the stables at Fourth and Henderson streets, Jersey City, and saw the little animal go through her tricks and learn some new ones. As the reporter entered, an attendant was busily engaged in bathing the legs of the mare and cleaning her nicely. The doctor explained that they always did this, because when a horse feels nice and clean it will go through the tasks with much less difficulty. After the toilet had been concluded the doctor went to the far end of the stable and said:

"Do you know how to ride?" The little animal answered with alacrity, and while she affectionately rubbed her nose against his knee the trainer explained his method of teaching.

"In the first place," said he, "when I teach an animal to train I always take a day or two to study its temper and actions. If I find it is obliging and quiet I have an easy task, but if it is vicious, I have to subdue it and make it驯服. I used to ride a horse myself, and when I was a boy I used to ride a pony to school, and when I made a mark about three-quarters of a mile from the schoolhouse, the teacher would come as near as before."

"What do you have?"

The little animal answered with alacrity, and while she affectionately rubbed her nose against his knee the trainer explained his method of teaching.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Although it has become fashionable for base ballists to be put up on the block and knocked down to the highest bidder, Madame Modjeska, the famous actress, has a decided objection to be put in the same category, and has written to the managers of the Bowditch & Brooks, the then-new manager will be receipt of some masses in which the actress's wish to remain to those who have given her a chance to make a name of her own is clearly expressed. A STRONG FIGHT.
THE DULUTH & WINNIPEG SWAMP GRANT BEFORE A HOUSE COMMITTEE—WHAT ARE THE EQUITIES OF THE CASE.

The Duluth & Winnipeg is making a strong effort to retain its land grant, which it introduced in the house previous to its decision last Friday. The corporation is represented in this endeavor by Gen Gordon D. Cole and W. H. Warner. Two miles of the road have been completed, and the company claims that 125,000 acres of the land has actually been earned thereby. Gen. Cole addressed the Minnesota house committee on railroad at some length Thursday evening, devoting his entire time to the subject. He will afford the state by developing a country which is now valueless," said Mr. Cole. "The road will be built through the north, and throw open a vast and fertile region to markets of easy access. It proposed to traverse a valuable mineral region, and will cause no new suffering to the inhabitants of all facilities. The lands concerned in the grant could be of no value to the state for the school fund, as no taxes would be levied upon them. It would not tax them. The greatest profit the state could ever derive from them was by making them, through a grant, as this, open to settlement. But the state's right to this road meant a new and powerful rival for the Canadian Pacific, giving for northwestern grain a short and speedy route to Europe. No other road was proposed to open great values, and no alternative route existed upon the legislature to declare these lands forfeited. The case should be left to the courts." In closing, he said with emphasis and information that was attempted to have him destroy this road is being made by a certain railroad company whose territory is invaded.

After some further discussion and a showing that the Duluth & Iron Range was not involved in the least, the committee rose to meet next Wednesday, when the final decision will be made.

The legal portion of the road is stated as follows: (1) that the state of Minnesota became the owner of swamp lands involved in the act of 1878; (2) that the legislature of that state had, prior to the adoption of the constitutional amendment of Nov. 8, 1881, power to impose a tax or assessment on the donations of those lands; (3) that upon the passage of the act of March 9, 1878, the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad company became entitled with a right to make a claim referred to in that act, subject, however, to a condition precedent until Feb. 18, 1879; (4) that this same title will not become valid or be diverted by any such build or proceed past date within the period named for so doing by said act; (5) that if the road be built before the date named, it will be directed by judicial or legislative action the forfeiture incurred by failure to build within the prescribed period can not be enforced at all; (6) that the act of March 9, 1878, did not affect the right of the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company, does not affect any rights established by the grant of March 9, 1878; (7) that the act of April 18, 1881, relating to the St. Paul & Northwestern Railroad company, is void, and whether void or not, does not affect any rights established by the grant of March 9, 1878.

THE BETHEL DEDICATION.

THE FINE NEW BETHEL BUILDING.

The dedication of the Bethel Bethel which takes place at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening, promises to be one of the most interesting religious service ever held in Duluth. With a numerous crowd hall in the coffee room adjoining, which is to be seated especially for the occasion. A fine program of instrumental and vocal music has been prepared, suited to the religious character of the exercises. S. W. Williams, one of the most noted in the Congregational pastorate of this state or in fact of the entire northwest, and Rev. Frankland, Dr. Chas. C. Salter, executive officer of the Western Seaman's Friend association of which organization the Bethel church is a member, will both take part in the services. Williams, one of the most noted in the Congregational pastorate of this state or in fact of the entire northwest, and Rev. Frankland, Dr. Chas. C. Salter together with what it is designed to accomplish, will this evening join the forces of the Bethel Bethel. A dedicatory ode, written for the occasion by Rev. Chas. Jones, chaplain of the Sailors' Snug Harbor, and sent by him, will be sung. This musical program will be most interesting and inspiring there can be no doubt.

Greatly Exaggerated.

Cloquet parties in Duluth today desired the statement made that the report of Indian troubles on the reservation were exaggerated. They said that most of the trouble existed only in the imagination of a certain few. The report recently published in several papers, that a new man had to be killed at Cloquet this week, is not true. Six miles there nothing worked over at present.

Since the late big fire the new custom of insuring the rentals of a building for a term approaching the time required to rebuild if the structure should be destroyed by fire, has recently been popular in Duluth. Most of the large buildings are now insured for their rentals.

CURIOSITIES OF SHOPPING IN THE TWO CAPITALS.

English and French Saleswomen—Bed Sand the Headway—Politeness Carried to an Extreme—Competition in Trade—As Bon Marché—Employees.

If one were to judge of the physique of English women from the specimens he sees in the shops, he would conclude that they sat there for a day or two, and if he inquiries into the subject he will find that these women are selected for very height—the taller their figure the higher their salary, very often. A stranger with an observing eye will notice that the French, French maid, chamber maid, or housekeeper, as they are called, New York, dress in black while on duty. This, however, is not a mere caprice on the part of the women; in most shops it is compelled by the master. The dress is more compact, looks neater and better in black than in colors, and so all of them wear black. The gowns may be of any material, but the color must be uniformly black. Not are they allowed to wear showy ornaments; and a simple necklace, chain or imitation lace is out of fashion. In some shops they, or, rather, they must, wear a simple plain linen collar and linen cuffs. This is the case of Whiteley's, the largest shop in London, and some say even larger than the world famous Bon Marché of Paris.

A close looker on, with an eye to detail, will also notice that red sand is placed in the window in front of the main entrance to the large and most fashionable London stores. There are two or three reasons for this. First, it serves to show where drivers of carriages should "pull up" second, in starting the horses it prevents them from slipping on the smooth wooden pavement; third, the red sand is a good ornament to the dark wooden pavement, and being placed with nice care on the roadway, in oblong shape, about ten feet by five, it gives the front quite an ornamental appearance.

There is such great competition in the retail trade in London and Paris that dealers are put to their wits' ends to attract custom and to keep it. The attendants carry politeness to the extreme, and, to Americans, to American, seem almost oblivious you are a customer, and, if you are a woman, you are to be treated as though you were the Queen of England. This custom has also found its way among New York tradesmen of late years.

It is no news that conductors and ticket-takers are on the alert for you, as they hand you an article or some change, for instance, they will also thank you for taking it. If a dealer sends you a receipt, he will usually sign it with a name, and, if he has had a signature, "Customer." This custom has also found its way among New York tradesmen of late years.

Examinations on French and English railways are not to be despised. The conductor, who is to collect the fare, will ask you, "How much?" You will answer, "One franc." He will then ask, "Are you a child?" You will then answer, "Yes." He will then ask, "How much?" You will then answer, "One franc." He will then ask, "Are you a child?" You will then answer, "Yes."
